

COSHH ASSESSOR TRAINING

INTRODUCTION

This course explains COSHH and the COSHH assessment process in detail. Hazardous substances have ability to cause harm in a variety of ways if used without controls and precautions. Employers are duty bound, under the COSHH Regulations to identify and control COSHH hazards.

The course includes instruction on all aspects of hazardous substances in the workplace from receiving the goods, internal transport and storage through to the safe use of hazardous substances.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This course is for all nominated employees in the workplace who manage, use, transport or store dangerous substances.

COURSE DURATION

PFA Consulting offer this as a 1 day course.

COURSE OVERVIEW

- Understand COSHH Regulations
- Identifying & Classifying Dangerous Chemicals
- Sources of Information
- Examination, Testing & Maintenance
- Cleaning, Storage and Disposal
- COSHH Assessment
- Control & Prevention Measures
- USE of PPE
- Emergency Procedures

COURSE BENEFITS

Despite the introduction of COSHH regulations nearly 20 years ago, the health of many employees continues to be affected by exposure to hazardous substances. A number of significant changes were included in the latest version of COSHH Regulations and important changes defining adequate control were introduced recently. This training will help employers to comply with the regulations and therefore avoid prosecution by the HSE, protect health and help minimise or avoid employee injuries, ill health and compensation claims.
