

CDM CO-ORDINATOR

PFA Consulting's specialist CDM Team has a vast range of knowledge, experience and skills to provide clients with a comprehensive service relating to safety in the design and construction industry. PFA Consulting's CDM Co-ordinators have successfully undertaken many projects, ensuring each time that Health and Safety in construction and long term maintenance are efficiently and effectively addressed. Projects have ranged from small buildings to large scale, complex and prestigious projects.

Our CDM Co-ordinators are able to provide in-depth understanding of the regulations governing Design and Construction projects, more commonly known as the Construction (Design and Management) Regulations.

The increasing demand for experienced CDM Co-ordinators, who can offer the high levels of service required to administer the CDM Regulations is one of the driving factors behind our ability to meet the requirements of clients.

This is especially true since PFA Consulting is in a position to provide experienced CDM Co-ordinators who possess a clear understanding of the CDM regulations and a proven track record in the role of Planning Supervisor, now called CDM Co-ordinator in the CDM 2007 Regulations.

All PFA Consulting's CDM Co-ordinators have many years experience working with Contractors, Architects and other Designers, on numerous construction projects, often under most demanding circumstances. Whether your project is in civil engineering, transportation, infrastructure, residential new build, residential refurbishment, offices, educational or leisure, and you require the services of a CDM Co-ordinator contact us for advice.
